DEFINITION OF “EMERGENCY”

The term “emergency” means a service provided after the sudden onset of a medical condition manifesting itself by acute symptoms of such severity (including severe pain) that the absence of immediate medical attention could reasonable be expected to result in placing the patient’s health in jeopardy, serious impairment to bodily functions, or serious dysfunction of any bodily organ or part.

DEFINITION OF “MEDICALLY NECESSARY”

Medical necessity for the service is established when a patient’s condition is such that use of any other means of transportation, other than ambulance, would further endanger the patient’s health or condition.
